This documentary is intended to serve as an educational reference for coin collectors and history buffs alike. It's putting the history of the New World together with the coins that helped to shape the Western Hemisphere. You will learn about the first mints, their coins (Spanish Colonial), minting processes, silver mines, shipwrecks, conquistadors, each country's independence, America's destiny, interesting facts and more coins. It moves in chronological order to help understand how these events, people and coins have gotten us to where we are today. All set to beautiful music and sound effects.

Order Form is on the next page. We can only accept 'good' checks at this time mailed to the address as listed below.
